Alabama experiencing widespread flu activity

Alabama is experiencing widespread influenza (flu) activity, and hospitals are at or over normal patient capacity due in large part to the number of patients presenting with seasonal influenza-like symptoms.

Late last week, Alabama Governor Kay Ivey declared a state of emergency due to this increased flu activity.

Hospital emergency departments and outpatient clinics are also seeing very high volumes of patients. At this time, this is not a pandemic flu situation, but a major seasonal flu situation.

To avoid getting and spreading the flu, the Alabama Department of Public Health urges the general public to follow do10 Fight the Flu actions, for example:

- Get flu vaccine, it is not too late
- · Stay at home if you have a fever
- Wash your hands
- · Cover your cough and
- Clean and disinfect • Learn home care

Flu can cause mild to severe illness, and at times can lead to death. The flu is different from a cold.

The flu usually comes on suddenly. People who have the flu often feel some or all of these symptoms:

- · Fever or feeling feverish/chills
- Cough
- Sore throat
- · Runny or stuffy nose Muscle or body aches

• Some people may have vomiting and diarrhea, although this is more common in children than adults.

For people with mild to moderate flu or flu-like symptoms, do not go to the doctor's office without calling first and do not go to the emergency room. Call the doctor to see if eligible for antivirals without an appointment.

Many insurance companies now have a "call a provider" service to help with mild to moderate illnesses; please take advantage of this service before going to doctor or hospital.

Mild to moderate cases of the flu usually do not require a hospital visit.

Patients who do visit an emergency department or outpatient clinic should be aware of long wait times.

Employers and schools that require doctor excuses for absences are asked to waive this requirement during this time to encourage those who are sick to stay home and not spread disease.

Memorial March honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. held in Elba

A special program honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was held Saturday, Jan. 13, in Elba.

This special program held last Saturday morning began with a Memorial March that ended on the courthouse square in Elba. Those in attendance braved the cold weather to listen to special speakers during a program held on the courthouse steps following the march with the theme, "Keeping the Dream Alive."

On Monday, Jan. 15, the nation celebrated Dr. King's birthday and honored his legacy that remains today.

During special meeting held Thursday evening, Jan. 11th brief, as this was the only issue on the agenda and the employee was not present. Moseley said the employee had been notified of the special meeting, and had not requested a hearing before the school board. Moseley explained that he had conducted an investigation of the complaints received and determined the staff member's actions warranted disciplinary action.

Moseley reviewed the work history of the support staff member, citing being placed on administrative leave in August, and later receiving a 20-day without pay leave in September. Moseley said the employee had said she did not want a hearing and did not submit verbal or written explaination of the latest incident.

The school board voted unanimously to approve Moseley's recommendation for immediate termination of the support staff press time this week.

The school board was set to meet Tuesday, Jan. 16, at 5:30 p.m. for its regular monthly meeting. The details from this meeting were not available as of

Silent auction to be held Monday, Jan. 22, through Tuesday, Feb. 6th

Student artwork donated to Elba band to help raise funds for Chicago trip

Elba City Schools' STEM 21st Century Community Learning Center (CCLC) recently completed a project to benefit the Elba High School band

The CCLC art classes for 5th-9th and 2nd-4th grades were taught how to do an acrylic pouring on a 24 x 30 canvas by art teacher Carol Laney. The students in these classes decided to donate the paintings from this lesson to the Elba High School Band to help raise money for the band's Chicago trip set for March.

"We are so thankful these kids thought about our band program and wanted to help us make the Chicago trip happen," said Elba High School band director Shaun Hammonds. "This was a really awesome donation on their part!"

Hammonds said a silent auction would be held for the artwork. He said the auction link can be found on the "Official Elba High School Band" Facebook page beginning Monday, Jan. 22nd. Bidding will end Feb. 6th.

"Information on how to make a bid will be included with the Facebook post beginning Monday," said Hammonds. "The proceeds will go to help with travel costs towards our Chicago trip in March."

Elba City Schools' STEM 21st Century Community Learning Center students for grades 5th-9th and 2nd-4th are shown above with the artwork they created in art class. The students chose to donate the pieces of art to the Elba High band program to help raise funds for the program's March trip to Chicago, Ill. A silent auction will be held to raise the funds. Pictured with the students is art teacher Carol Laney and Elba High School band director Shaun Hammonds. Hammonds said the band is very thankful that the students were thoughtful enough to make such a donation.

Area Happenings

A LANDSCAPE PRUNING CLASS will be held in the Coffee County Community Room in New Brockton on Thursday, Feb. 1, from 9-11 a.m. Topics will include: the importance of pruning, tools for pruning, how to prune, amount to prune, when to prune, and pruning safety. There will be a hands-on demonstration for pruning trees and shrubs will be provided. This is a free workshop and open to the public. Pre-registration is through the Coffee County Extension office by calling (334) 894-5596 by Friday, Jan. 26th.

GOV. KAY IVEY DECLARED A PUBLIC HEALTH EMERGENCY LAST WEEK. At the time of the declaration, the Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) indicated it would be hosting flu shot clinics statewide. The Alabama Department of Public Health will be providing flu shot clinics at designated county health departments throughout Alabama. A list of locations, dates and times can be found at alabamapublichealth.gov/immunization.

THE COFFEE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCA-TION HAS PLANNED A SPECIAL MEETING for Thursday, Jan. 18, at 12 noon at the superintendent's office in Elba. Looking at the proposed agenda, the main topic for this meeting will be personnel.

"Sometimes I wonder whether the world is being run by smart people who are putting us on or by imbeciles who really mean it." - Mark Twain

The false missile alert that was broadcast in Hawaii last Saturday morning (and another false alert in Japan two days later) should be a wake-up call to those responsible for manning the office with the "warning" and/or the "launch" button. Reports are that in the Saturday case someone going off duty accidentally bumped the alert button. Each of us can think of multiple negative results from these false alarms. We see one right here in South Alabama when tornado warning sirens are sounded. Time and time again it appears to be a false alarm because authorities are erring on the side of caution, or citizen safety. Yet all too many local citizens continue about their regular routine, citing previous alarms that amounted to a "false" alarm. As that mind set grows, the alerts have a negative impact and sooner or later the death of good citizens. Throw in the military aspect of missiles and you create the possibility of "shooting back" at a false alarm and creating a real, death-causing event. Major wars have been started over incidents of far less impact. We urge the powers-that-be to fix this before it is too late.

Should journalists be using profane language quotes and/or graphic photographs? There has been lots of chatter among religious leaders, journalism professors, editors, publishers, etc., of late, especially following the claims of a now famous Donald Trump comment about several foreign countries. Society has become more accustomed, and accepting of strong language during our lifetime but we still debate the level of that acceptance. Some 30-plus years ago a Harvard Divinity School professor designed a four-quadrant box to guide someone on should-we or should-we-not quote the exact words. It included, in this order: Facts, Values, Principles and Loyalties. It was designed to help decide the ethics of what was being quoted. A recommendation from the Poynter Institute (almost a bible for journalists) revised the four quadrant box with the following; Level of Profanity, News Value, Context and Standards of Practices. Each of the four topics assigns a number 1 to 5 from "Mild" to "Strong" and then they are totaled to find the answer. Neither of these formulas note the consideration of, "Is this a violation of community standards or what is expected from a particular news outlet". All the above is good but frankly we think good old common sense is better . . . if we can find enough common sense to

It appears this is going to be a good year for educators and state employees. Governor Ivey is encouraging pay raises for these folks. Even with predictions of an increase in tax revenues, the pay raises still must compete with a number of other state funded departments for funds. Probably the largest of these is the prison system, followed by Medicaid. Ivey is right in her comments about these needed raises, but so are prison advocates and medical expense watchdogs. Add in the pressure for highway building and improvement, the ongoing shortage of state troopers and other law enforcement units and it gets a bit binding on the budget. Don't forget that higher education has absorbed funding cuts on top of funding cuts in recent state budgets and will be expecting their portion of the growing tax income in spite of the flow of income several schools are experiencing from sport team success-

~ Exciting News on the Economic Front ~

Guest Editorial by U.S. Representative Martha Roby

Regardless of what is dominating the news cycle on any given day, the economy is always an issue on the minds of hardworking Alabamians.

The ability to get and keep a job in order to provide for your family is so important. That is why the President, Congress, and local leaders in Alabama have made growing the economy a top priority.

There is a lot of exciting news happening on the economic front both nationally and locally. America's economy is growing faster than even analysts could Alabama is one of thirteen states that have reached a record low unemployment rate, the stock market is at an all-time high, and the U.S. dollar continues to climb.

Successful business is the foundation to a healthy economy. A lot of people don't realize that our effective tax rate for businesses was among the highest in the world before President Trump signed our historic tax reform bill into law.

Jobs were being sent overseas and our burdensome tax code was standing in the way of small business growth.

We've already Martha Roby seen the positive impact of tax reform on our economy and employees. There has been $1.66 billion and counting in new investments made by companies in the U.S. along with more than $1.57 billion in publicly announced employee bonuses to date in response to the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. Employers like Waste Management, Regions Bank, and many others have said that tax reform is the driving force behind their reinvestment and employee compensation. Alabama been behind in this economic boom, Governor and Ivey highlighted growing our economy in her State of the State address.

The Governor and local leaders announced

Toyota and Mazda, in a joint venture, have chosen to build a new plant right here in Alabama. The $1.6 billion assembly plant will employ up to 4,000 workers. Alabama is already the fifth largest producer of cars and trucks in the U.S. Hyundai Montgomery, Mercedes-Benz in Tuscaloosa, and Honda in Lincoln.

There's no doubt that Alabama's proven success over the past two decades in automobile production made it stand out among the other states in the run-

In Alabama's Second Congressional District, Kimber Gun Manufacturing will be coming to Troy, bringing more than 360 new highpaying jobs to our community. In addition to the new jobs this development will bring, the company will invest more than $38 million into our local economy over the span of five years.

This is just one of many businesses that have recognized our district's potential and are adding to our strong manufacturing pres-

As you may remember, last month Wayne Farms announced a large expansion of its Enterprise Fresh Processing Facility that will bring nearly 400 jobs to the area. Additionally, Shaw Industries Group, which employs more than Alabamians, announced it is investing $184 million into its Andalusia manufacturing facility.

The news that the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter is coming to Montgomery's 187th Fighter Wing at Dannelly Field is also a tremendous boost to our area's economy. Landing this mission could result in as many as 1,000 jobs and as much as $3 billion in capital investment - and that's just the beginning.

Americans are confident in our economy, and rightfully so. I'm proud of the many steps we have taken in Congress to unleash the private sector and roll back Obama-era rules and regulations that were standing in the way of growth. I will continue to fight for Alabama families and do all that I can to assist local and national efforts to keep this momentum going.

LBWCC offers speakers

Any group that needs a speaker for their group or civic club meeting can select from the newlyestablished list of topics available through LBW Community College's Speakers Bureau.

The speakers bureau provides a great opportunity for our faculty and staff to connect with those in our community," LBWCC President Dr. Herb Riedel. "There is a wide assortment of topics on which college personnel have volunteered to share their expertise, enthusiasm, and experience with others."

The information can be found on the College's website www.lbwcc.edu, Renée LeMaire, public information officer and director of marketing.

"Once logged into the website, simply click on the 'About LBWCC' button at the top of the screen and you will see the Speakers Bureau' button in the roll-out," she said. "There is information there on how to contact the presenter of the selected topic to ensure direct communication on the needs of the group, what the speaker can provide, and the logistics of the meeting date and place."

There are such topics as "Self-Defense," Pigs: Their Environmental Impacts, Sign, Edibility, and Hunting Techniques," "Health and Beauty Secrets," "Leadership Development," "Preparing Job Search Documents,' and "When Both Ends of the Candle Burn Out," among others, she said. Every effort is made to keep topics current.

Space heaters account for 43 percent of U.S. home heating fires and 85 percent of accociated deaths sufficiently warm during the winter months can prove challenging, particularly when frigid temperatures persist, as they have recently for much of the country.

While portable space heaters can help generate heat, the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) is reminding the public that they do present potential fire hazards and must be used with caution. According to NFPA's latest U.S. Home Fires Involving Heating Equipment report, which was released this week, heating equipment is the second-leading cause of U.S. home fires and the third-leading cause of home fire deaths. More than half (53 percent) of all home heating fire deaths resulted from fires that began when heating equipment was too close to things that can burn, such as upholstered furniture, clothing, mattresses or bed-

Between 2011 and 2015, portable and stationary space heaters accounted for more than two of every five (43 percent) U.S. home heating fires and five out of six (85 percent) home heating fire deaths.

Experts say space heaters should be placed a minimum of three feet away from anything that can burn, and must be turned off when people leave the room or go to sleep.

It's your competitive advantage

"Make sure children and pets are kept well away from space heaters at all times, and remember that space heaters should never be left unattended," said Carli. "When you're ready to go to sleep, it's time to turn off your space heater."

December, January and February are the leading months for home heating fires. The peak time of day for home heating equipment fires is between 4:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. (27 percent of fires), with another 20 percent occurring between 8:00 p.m. and midnight. The fewest fires occur between midnight and 8:00 a.m. (18 percent), but these fires caused almost half of the heating fire deaths.

Following are important home heating safety tips and recommendations:

· Have a three-foot "kidfree zone" around open fires and space heaters.

· Have a qualified professional install stationary space heating equipment, water heaters or central heating equipment according to the local codes and manufacturer's instruc-

· Have heating equipment and chimneys cleaned and inspected every year by a qualified professional.

· Always use the right kind of fuel, specified by the manufacturer, for fuel burning space heaters.

• Make sure the fireplace has a sturdy screen to stop sparks from flying into the room. Ashes should be cool new computers.

before putting them in a metal container. Keep the container a safe distance away from your home.

· Install wood burning stoves following manufacturer's instructions or have a professional do the installation. All fuel-burning equipment should be vented to the outside to avoid carbon monoxide (CO) poi-

When You Need a Breakthrough

The sifting process is God's way of bringing us back to our first love and the call God has placed on our lives. This process is often painful, slowly but it cuts away everything that is unimportant. Jesus will cut everything out, especially the things you've learned to depend on and trust, so that you will return to Him. The question is not should I quit or continue in this process but "Is Jesus Enough for you and I?

When you are in this season of questioning and searching, ask for direction from the Lord and return to Him. There are three principles that can help you grow and experience greater influence.

PRINCIPLE 1-LET THE BIBLE STUDY YOU. When you need to hear God's voice, circle back to His Word. Look at your time in the Word of God as a time for reinstilling the most basic discipline of all: a daily devotional time when you sit down before God's Word, not in order to study the Bible, but to let the Bible study you. Read Hebrews 4:12. There is much God wants to say if you are willing to listen, and there is only one book in the universe God has promised, unfailingly to speak through. Press back in God's Word (the Holy Bible).

PRINCIPLE 2—COME TO GOD. When you come to God, come to Him without having the answers in hand. God cannot fill a vessel with Himself if that vessel is already filled with itself. Let Him know that apart from Him you do not know how to do anything. Read Matthew 5:3. People who are poor in spirit are open to having their hearts cleared from any blame, complaints, or faultfinding. The Lord says, "Just come to me as you are without any answers, I'll take care of the rest."

PRINCIPLE 3—WRITE IT DOWN. Read Habakkuk 2:2. When you come to listen to God, to meet Him in His Word (The Holy Bible), make sure you have a pen and paper. It's easy to forget what you experience or hear in these moments with the Lord. Writing down your thoughts, impressions and gleanings from Scripture will help tremendously as you try to summarize and interpret what the Holy Spirit is saying.

In the midst of sifting, hand over your life with reckless abandon and entrust your future to Jesus. Don't call it quits for the wrong reasons. Surrender to Jesus and He will bring about the breakthrough He wants for you, in His time and way. As you surrender to Jesus, He will do the leading.

Attorney General comments on federal court dismissal of lawsuit challenging state's Voter ID Law

Attorney General Steve Marshall issued the following statement in reaction to the judgment against a federal lawsuit challenging the constitutionality Alabama's voter ID law.

U.S. District Judge L. Scott Coogler of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District Alabama ordered the lawsuit filed by Greater Birmingham Ministries, Alabama NAACP and individual plaintiffs against the State of Alabama be dis-

"Today's decision to dismiss the lawsuit is without a doubt the right decision," said Attorney General Marshall. "Alabama's voter identification law is one of the broadest in the nation with procedures in place to allow anyone who does not have a photo ID to obtain one. The court order makes this point exceedingly clear: There is no admission who does not have a photo charge. For more info call: ID today is not prevented from voting if he or she can easily get one, and it is so easy to get a photo ID in Alabama, no one is prevented from voting.

"I am proud of the hard work of my Constitutional Defense attorneys who spent the last 15 months traveling this state interviewing dozens of witnesses including local election officials and private citizens who have fought voter fraud. Each of these individuals who volunteered their time to assist the State in gathering the facts deserves special recognition and our gratitude.'

For anyone who would like a free voter photo ID in Alabama, please visit the Alabama Secretary of State's web site: http://sos.alabama.gov/alab ama-votes/photo-voterid/obtain-free-photo-voter-

Wrong Leads to Wrong David committed adultery and then tried to hide his guilt by committing murder. That was some three thousand years ago, but only a few years ago a robber ran into the woods with a policeman in hot pursuit. The robber stopped behind a big tree until the pursuer came close, then shot him at point-blank range.

Very few of us have committed murder, but how many of us have done some trivial wrong and then lied about it? Whatever happened to the honest practice of admitting your wrong and taking the consequences?

No downside to quitting tobacco, says A.D.P.H.

There is no downside to quitting tobacco, and the benefits are priceless.

The Alabama Department of Public Health offers free assistance to stop tobacco use Tobacco through the Quitline. The Quitline helps callers develop an individualized quit plan, offers coaching, and provides up to eight weeks of nicotine replacement therapy (NRT) patches if the user is medically eligible and enrolled in the coaching program.

All services at the Quitline - 1-800-QUIT-NOW - are free to Alabama residents.

Within 20 minutes of quitting, heart rate and blood pressure drop. By the end of three months, circulation improves and lung function increases, according to the American Cancer Society. With a pack of cigarettes costing $5 or more, quitting means more money to spend for other things.

Quitline services are available every day from 6 a.m. to midnight, with calls placed after hours or on holidays returned the next business day. The Quitline schedules phone coaching sessions at the caller's convenience, according to Quitline Manager Julie Hare. Online services are available QuitNowAlabama.com.

If the caller is eligible for NRT, it is mailed directly to the caller's home. Medicaid callers will be referred to Medicaid for their cessation medications.

"Because Medicaid pays for any of the seven FDAapproved cessation medications, we require Medicaid recipients to get their medications through Medicaid's program. We can, however, help their doctor with the authorization process," Hare said.

All callers enrolled in the program will be asked to set a quit date within 30 days and work with a coach to make a plan. Studies show the combination of coaching and medication doubles the chances of being successful, she said.

Tobacco use is the leading cause of preventable death in the U.S. In Alabama, some 8,600 people die annually from tobacco use. Almost onethird of cancer deaths in Alabama are attributable to smoking, according to the Campaign for Tobacco Free Kids.

According to the 2016 Adult Tobacco Survey, more than 60 percent of Alabamians who smoke said they tried to quit at least once during the past year. It can take multiple attempts for a person to quit, Hare said.

For more information on quitting, contact the Quitline at 1-800-784-

Follow safety precautions during cold weather emergencies

The Alabama Department of Public Health urges residents to take extra precautions during times of extremely cold weather.

When exposed to cold temperatures, our bodies begin to lose heat faster than it can be produced. This results in abnormally low body temperature called hypothermia. Hypothermia occurs when the body's core temperature falls below 95 degrees Fahrenheit, just a few degrees less than the normal body temperature.

Hypothermia makes people unable to think clearly or move well. Most hypothermia victims are older adults. As the body ages, its ability to maintain a constant internal temperature decreases.

Hypothermia risk is even greater when an older person has a chronic condition that affects the circulatory or neurologic systems, or the thyroid. When the core temperature falls, bodily functions shut down.

Knowing what to do in cold weather can help prevent hypothermia. To provide protection, older adults' living quarters should be heated to at least 65 degrees F, they should wear suitable clothing, have plenty of warm blankets available. and eat nutritionally balanced food.

Please check on elderly neighbors, friends and relatives to make sure they are keeping warm and discourage them from going outside if it is cold, especially if it is windy or wet.

In addition to advanced age, common risk factors for hypothermia are substance abuse and mental impairment. Certain commonly used drugs such as tranquilizers may contribute to the onset of hypothermia. Furthermore, many deaths from hypothermia are complicated by alcohol consumption, which can lead to dehydration and impaired ber to lower risks of coldweather health problems and follow these recommendations:

· Dress in multiple layers to help retain body heat.

· Limit your time outdoors, and remove wet clothing immediately.

· Watch for signs of hypothermia in babies, people drinking alcohol, and

· Call for emergency help immediately if you suspect someone has hypothermia, and keep the victim warm until assistance arrives. Generator safety

During times of power outages following winter storms, many people use items that can produce carbon monoxide. Exposure to carbon monoxide can cause flu-like symptoms and ultimately lead to coma and death. Exposure to odorless, colorless carbon monoxide is responsible for more fatal unintentional poisonings in the United States than any If a generator is used, be sure to follow these safety

· Have a carbon monoxide monitor with fresh batteries in it and place it in the house high on a wall. Carbon monoxide is lighter than air and rises towards the ceiling.=

· Place generators as far away from the home as possible. People have had carbon monoxide poisoning from generators as far away as 30 feet away from the · Never hook up the generator to the home's normal wiring. Improper wiring of a home generator can create backfeed in the electrical wires to the house and could injure or kill utility workers repairing the electrical lines.

Many risks are associated with the use of fuel-burning appliances in enclosed or semi-enclosed areas. These include camping stoves, portable propane gas stoves and charcoal grills used in enclosed or semi-enclosed spaces. The fumes are dead-

Here are some other tips: · Do not use a generator or appliances if they are

· Do not store gasoline indoors where fumes could · Use individual heavyduty outdoor-rated cords to plug in other appliances. · Do not turn on a stove for heat; it is not safe. · Never place a space heater on top of furniture or

· Never leave children unattended near a space

· Keep heat sources at least three feet away from furniture and draperies. Food safety

As a general rule, a full upright or chest freezer will keep foods frozen for about two days without power. A partially full freezer will keep foods frozen for about one day. This time may be extended by keeping the door shut. A refrigerator will keep foods cool for four to six hours if the door is kept shut as much as possible.

Discard any thawed foods that have been at room temperature for more than two hours. Foods still containing ice crystals can be refrozen, although its quality may decrease. Foods that have thawed to refrigerator temperatures (that is, no more than 40 degrees F) can also cooked and then

For specific questions about a food or refrigeration condition, contact your local county health department or Food Safety and Inspection Service's Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555 or 1-888-MP-HOTLINE (888-674-6854).

Governor says November unemployment set new record low

Governor Kay Ivey Fitzgerald Washington, enced significant drops in Secretary of the Alabama Department of Labor. "Construction employment is an indicator of economic stability, and we have seen a steady increase in construction employment for most of this year. Additionally, our manufacturing employment is at its highest level in nearly nine years, nearing 2008 levels, which are pre-recessionary

Alabama.' Over the year, wage and employment salary by increased 30,500, increasing to 2,029,800, the highest number recorded, with gains in the construction (+6,600), the manufacturing sector (+5,600), and the leisure and hospitality sector (+5,200), among others.

Wage and salary employincreased November by 6,700. Monthly gains were seen in the trade, transportation, and utilities sector (+6,200), the government sector (+1,800), and the manufacturing sector (+400), among others.

"All 67 counties experi-their unemployment rates over the year," continued Washington. "Wilcox County, which traditionally has the highest unemployment rate in the state, has seen its rate drop by 5.7 percentage points since last year. 2017 marks the first time in a decade that all counties' unemployment rates have been in the single digits."

Counties with the lowest unemployment rates are: Shelby County at 2.6%, Marshall and Cullman Counties at 3.0%, and Madison, Lee, and Elmore Counties at 3.1%. Counties with the highest unemployment rates are: Wilcox County at 9.3%, Clarke County at 6.7%, and Lowndes County at 6.4%. Major cities with the lowest unemployment rates are: Vestavia Hills at 2.4%, Homewood at 2.5%, and Alabaster and Hoover at 2.6%. Major cities with the unemployment rates are: Selma at 6.6%, Prichard at 6.5%, and Anniston and Bessemer at

Views From The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson is learning to read and has already read over 100 books at school to join the '50 Point' club. The little man reads whatever he can during commercials on television, on billboards heading down the road and often times even tries to help his 'ole granddaddy read the newspaper. Yep, he is growing up fast!

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers continued their recent winning ways and took control in the area standings with a big 74-13 area win last week over the outmanned Zion Chapel Rebels. The Tigers got off to a slow start this season and had their fans scratching their heads, but have come on fast in recent weeks and with recent wins over New Brockton and Zion Chapel are in command as they try to defend their area title. Jeremiah 'Jay' Jordan was in the spotlight in the easy win over Zion Chapel as he drained a total of seven 3-pointers in the big win, and if he can stay hot, he and Alex Wright can provide the Tigers with a dynamic 1-2 punch. Hey, the fun may have just started here in Elba.

 The Elba Lady Tigers also claimed a lopsided win up at Zion Chapel and at the midway point in the area schedule are in command. The Lady Tigers settled for a second place finish in the area a year ago to the Lady Rebels, but made it clear last week that they are back and are the team to beat. Elba had four players score in double figures in the road win over Zion Chapel, and if it can get balanced scoring from almost the entire starting lineup, the Lady Tigers could be a team to watch late in the season.

 A look around the area found things pretty much as expected at all the area gyms. In boys play, New Brockton grabbed its first win of the season with a big victory over Zion Chapel, while Brantley pretty much locked down the number two seed in its area with a big win over Red Level, and Kinston played well in a win over Highland Home and a four quarter battle against Houston County. With two weeks left in the regular season it looks like Brantley and New Brockton should both be teams to watch come tournament time, while Kinston has to be considered the team most likely to pull off a surprise. Over with the girls, Brantley moved into a tie for the area lead with an exciting win over Georgiana, while Kinston again proved it could hold its own with anybody on the schedule and Zion Chapel showed it is a solid #2 pick in its area, ahead of New Brockton. Brantley and Zion Chapel appears to be the best bets to advance out of the area tournaments, while Kinston is more than capable of making it fun in the postseason.

 In closing.... I read prior to this year's Peach Bowl that an Auburn win would give the Tigers their seventh 11win season in the history of the program. Since Alabama has recorded 11 wins or more in nine of the last ten years that figure seemed a little strange, but after doing a little research I discovered that Auburn had posted only five 11plus win seasons since way back in 1993. I also read up on Auburn coach Gus Malzahn since he got a new $49 million contract extension, and found out that in his five seasons at the 'plains' he has an overall record of 45-22 and one SEC crown. While it is true the Tigers have averaged nine wins per season while riding the 'Gus Bus,' they have managed only one season with less than four losses and have won New Brockton falls to Wicksburg 52-45 only one bowl game. I guess money is no object when it comes to coaching at the college level.

Tigers wallop Zion Chapel 74-13

The Elba Tigers continued their recent winning ways and remained atop the area standings last week with a lopsided 74-13 romp past the Zion Chapel Rebels, at Zion Chapel.

The Tigers came out on fire against their crosscounty rivals and used a trio of 3-pointers by Jay Jordan and six points from Alex Wright to race out to an early 23-6 lead. Jordan added his fourth 3-pointer of the half and Wright continued to dominate inside in the second quarter as Elba carried a 36-9 lead in at the half, and the Tigers never missed a beat in the third quarter as Jordan added 13 points, including points on three more 3pointers, and Elba outscored the Rebels 25-2 to open up a lopsided 61-11 advantage heading into the final stanza. Six players scored for the Tigers in the fourth quarter and Zion Chapel managed only one basket as Elba rolled to the big 74-13 win.

Jay Jordan scored 27 points to lead Elba and Alex Wright added 13, while Dukes led the Rebels

Elba's Isabella Jackson competing this weekend in Distinguished Young Woman of Alabama scholarship program in Montgomery, Ala

The Distinguished Young Woman of Alabama is part of a national scholarship program, where, this week, representative, Isabella Jackson of Elba, Alabama is participating and competing for thousands of cash and college scholarships.

Jackson is with the other county winners this week as they prepare for the public event this weekend (Friday and Saturday) at Frazier United Methodist Church in Montgomery. The winner of this state event will represent Alabama in the nation competition, which will be held in Mobile, Alabama.

"I encourage young girls and their families to sup-Isabella Montgomery. It's an energetic and inspiring weekend for both participants and the audience. It also gives local young women an idea of what to expect as they approach their opportunity to compete their junior year." Committee chairman, Connie Harrelson, of Enterprise, Alabama shared, "At the conclusion of the state program, we immediately gear up for The Class of 2019. We are excited to announce two local programs, DYW of Coffee County and Dale County, will have an informational meeting February 4, 2018, at St. Luke's United Method Church, in Enterprise at 1:30 p.m."
